Police Wireless System will help Rescue Operations

The Police wireless system will aid people in places in which communication networks have been destroyed due to the deluge. People stranded at hilly areas and far off places can use the wireless system to communicate with the relatives. The State Police Chief has directed all the District Police Chiefs and Station House Officers regarding this.

The IG, State Crime Records Bureau and SP, Telecommunications have been entrusted to make urgent communication systems in places in which communication networks have been destroyed. The District Police Chiefs will contact the District Collectors and take necessary action to avail the service of Harm Radio Operators.

Most priority has been given to remove the road blocks and fallen trees. Police will do all the necessary help to avail JCB and other equipments from construction fields and remove such blocks. Kadalora Jagratha Samithies have been asked to ensure the full service of fisherman community.
